Winter Creations Wednesday, December 23

Have fun creating seasonal craft projects to take home and to present to our animals as enrichment.

Animal Appetites Monday, December 28

Some animals eat meat; some prefer plants . . . some like both! Find out who eats what and how. Come join us as we explore animal diets in the wild and at the zoo. Have a front row seat as we watch them chow down!

Wintery Ways Tuesday, December 29

Have you ever wondered how animals survive the cold of winter? Many animals are perfectly designed to do just that! Some migrate to warm places, some hibernate, and some have adaptations that make the cold bearable. Grab your jacket and mittens and join us as we explore their wintery ways!

Dramatic Defenses Wednesday, December 30

From flight to fangs, from venom to spines, animals protect themselves in a variety of ways. Not only will we find out about some of these dramatic defenses, we will even see some in action.

Fall Camp Adventures

Sensory Safari Monday, November 23

How do bats catch insects in the dark? How do stingrays find oysters buried in the sand? Animals share the senses we have: hearing, sight, smell, touch, and taste and some have even more. Discover the amazing ways animals use their senses to survive and thrive!

On the Move Tuesday, November 24

Animals can move in many ways. Flying, swimming, running, leaping, who does what and how do they do it so much better than we do? Join us in learning about and seeing first hand how animals move.

Fall Craft Fun Wednesday, November 25

Have fun creating seasonal craft projects to take home and to present to our animals as enrichment.

Winter Camp Adventures

Herpetology Monday, December 21

Explore the world of amphibians and reptiles. From turtles, snakes and lizards to frogs and salamanders, find out why they are so special and how you can help them.

Animal Abodes Tuesday, December 22

Shelter is very important to most living things! Join us as we explore the many different places animals call home.
